Nazi War Machine Broken, Red Radio Broadcasts Today

Long-drawn Sieges of Leningrad and Sevastopol Pierced

(By The Associated Press)
Russia's armies were declared today to have virtually broken the long-drawn sieges of Leningrad and Sevastopol, and soviet dispatches reported that "east of Leningrad the Germans have now lost everything they have been able to capture in the past three months".

This would indicate that the invaders had been thrown back from the eastern arc of their siege ring, with defenders of the old czarist capital once more in direct communication with the rest of Russia.

Russian reports indicated that the hemmed-in garrisons and attacking forces driving to their relief would affect a juncture soon—or might already have done so.

The Moscow radio declared that "the enemy continues to retreat in many sectors of the front, losing a great number of men, tanks, trucks and guns".

"The initiative has been torn from the enemy's hands", the broadcast added. "The German machine is broken".

At one stage of the siege, the German high command asserted that Leningrad was "completely isolated" from the south and that the only outlet was the precarious passage across Lake Ladoga.

Battle Four Days Old
Advices reaching London reported that Red army storm troops now were battering the Germans in wave after wave in a sanguinary four-day-old battle at Pevensa, at the mouth of the Stalin canal.

While maps failed to show Pevensa, presumably it was a village in the vicinity of Schlusselburg, 25 miles east of Leningrad, where the Neva river flows into the Stalin canal.

The canal itself, a link in Russia's Baltic-to-Arctic waterways system, extends 100 miles eastward to Lake Ladoga.

In the Crimea, Red army troops who stubbornly defended Russia's great Black sea naval base at Sevastopol for two months were reported sallying forth and crushing the Germans' own siege positions.

Dispatches from Kuibyshev, the alternate soviet capital, said the Sevastopol garrison broke out and launched a violent offensive when the Germans withdrew some of their siege forces to combat the Russian counter-invasion from the Kerch peninsula.

Izvestia, soviet government newspaper, reported that the Germans had massed seven divisions—perhaps 105,000 troops—on the approaches to Sevastopol in mid-December and threatened to break through the port's defenses on Dec. 27.

Nazis Face Withdrawal
Marines from the soviet Black sea fleet drove them back, however, and the Germans were reported now facing the prospect of a complete withdrawal from the Crimea or being caught in a trap.

Sea-borne Russian troops were said to be landing at many points, east and north of Sevastopol, while the Sevastopol garrison itself drove the Germans back from the south.

Izvestia said Russian forces from the Caucasus first landed on the Kerch peninsula Dec. 28 through snow, gales and high seas, and effected a second landing Jan. 3 at Feodosiya, 50 miles down the coast from Kerch to

The War Today!

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

The greatest stroke of good fortune that could come to the allies would be a revolt in Germany and the consequent collapse of Herr Hitler.

That perhaps accounts for the avidity with which a lot of folk are seizing on reports of disaffection in the Hitlerian ranks and trying to squeeze over-much juice out of this turnip. The tendency to wishful thinking probably has been increased by the seriousness of the allied position in these opening days of the battle of the Pacific—the effort being to offset the uncomfortable facts that for the moment we apparently must take it in the neck from the Japs.

Because of the danger that allied peoples may get a distorted view of the military position, and become too confident, a spokesman for the British Foreign Office has warned that reports of impending revolt in Germany should be treated with extreme reserve. That's good advice. We shouldn't forget the adage about counting our chickens, etcetera.

The reports in question cover two points. One is that there is disaffection among Hitler's army officers and men. His recent shelving of several of his high command is cited in substantiation. The other is that there is growing discontent among the German people because of privations and military reverses.

London newspapers have published a statement that the Nazi government has set up machine-gun posts throughout Berlin and other key cities as a precaution against any possible attempt by the army to overthrow the regime.

Of course, the allies have been working overtime ever since the war started to bring about a revolution in Germany. That has been one of the cardinal points of strategy. They haven't forgotten that the German army and people cracked in 1918. However, the allied command never for a moment has lost sight of the fact that there must be a combination of military and economic pressure to achieve victory. The present position as I see it is this:

Hitler's regime is as delicately balanced as an egg on the end of a pencil. Its strength lies not in the Nazi doctrines but in the leader-

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9.—(AP)—A $25 check from a Joliet prison convict serving a 14-year term for murder was turned over to the Red Cross today by Governor Green.

RAF Showers U. S. Leaflet No. 1 On Citizens of Occupied France

Washington, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The White House disclosed today that the RAF had carried out successfully its first mission for the United States government—the distribution over occupied France of more than 2,000,000 French language leaflets containing excerpts from speeches and statements by President Roosevelt.

Stephen Early, presidential press secretary, said additional leaflets probably would be distributed over other occupied portions of Europe later.

"The United States leaflet number one," Early said carried to the French a message of hope and "clearly implied that a very different kind of message would be carried to the enemy in due time."

On the leaflet was a picture of the American flag in colors, a picture of the Statue of Liberty, which is of French workmanship

Controversy Over LaGuardia Brings Action by the President

Washington, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Dean James M. Landis of Harvard law school was assigned the task today of executing civilian defense activities, OCD Director Fiorello LaGuardia turning his talents "to perfecting the organization throughout the country."

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early announced Landis' appointment, saying the educator would have the title of "Executive" and that Landis and LaGuardia, mayor of New York, together would fashion board matters of policy.

In reply to reporters' inquiries as to whether Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt would continue as assistant director of the Office of Civilian Defense, Early said he had heard nothing about the matter. The chance followed complaints that LaGuardia had more to do than any one man could handle in directing the civilian defense program and serving as New York's mayor at the same time.

In a statement issued here today, LaGuardia welcomed Landis' appointment.

Suspect in Dixon Night of Murder?

Carbondale, Ill., Jan. 9.—(AP)—State's Attorney Glenn O. Brown said today the Jackson county grand jury to be empaneled Monday would not investigate the death of Hildreth E. Kinkade, Mt. Vernon oil worker, who was found burned beyond recognition near here January 1.

Because the state's attorney's office has not completed its investigation, Brown said he would ask Circuit Judge Lloyd M. Bradley to dismiss the jury subject to recall.

S. Gregg Stratton, operator of a Mt. Vernon machine shop, has been held without charges in the county jail at Murphysboro on a mittimus issued by Coroner Roy Huffman in connection with the death of the 28-year-old oil worker.

State's Attorney Brown said Stratton told the officers he drove from Mt. Vernon to Dixon on the evening of January 1, arriving in Dixon about midnight. His mother and a daughter were visiting there and he took them back to Mt. Vernon, Brown said.

Kinkade's body was found in his burning automobile about 10:45 o'clock the same evening.

and was given to the United States by the French people, and the Roosevelt excerpts.

From London, Roosevelt has received a report quoting an RAF official as saying: "United States leaflet number one was acclaimed everywhere in the RAF and the fliers felt it was an honor to be the couriers of America and to carry so stirring a message."

Many of the excerpts, Early said, were from an address by the President in 1934 at a ceremony honoring the Marquis de LaFayette, on the 100th anniversary of his death.

The folder stressed the historic friendship between the French and American people and expressed the assurance also of the President, Early said, "That the United Nations are going to win the war and the peace."

New Agreement on Type of Levies Reached at First Conference

Washington, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Senator George (D-Ga.) said today that preliminary conferences with treasury officials had emphasized that the nation faces even greater tax increases than were first indicated by President Roosevelt's budget proposal for $9,000,000,000 in new levies.

The chairman of the senate finance committee said that to raise that amount in the fiscal year beginning next July 1, congress would have to fix rates that would produce $12,000,000,000 annually when the full productive capacity was reached.

A bi-partisan congressional delegation, including George, started work on the tax program this morning with Treasury Secretary Morgenthau.

He pointed out that the military production peak probably would not be reached until the spring of 1943, which would be late in the fiscal year. Tax receipts necessarily will be drawn largely from the income generated by the production program, he said.

Will Levy the Limit
The Georgia senator said he and Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee were agreed upon levying all of the taxes that could be placed upon industries and individuals without slowing down the production program.

"We realize that whatever amount of taxes is levied, will be too small," he added.

George said treasury experts had submitted a "mass of data" on the tax structure, but were not yet prepared to make specific recommendations on new levies.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee, speaking on behalf of the delegation after the conference at the treasury, explained, however, that the meeting was preliminary and that no agreements had been made yet on what types of taxes will be sought.

"All I can say is that we met to exchange views and everyone showed a very fine spirit," Doughton said.

Others who met in Morgenthau's office for a two hour session were Chairman George (D-Ga.), of the senate finance committee, Representative Treadway (R-Mass), ranking Republican of the house committee, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) and Colin F. Stam, chief research expert of the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation.

Asked about individual types of taxes, such as sales taxes, income taxes, or excess profits taxes, Doughton said, "We talked about all of them and all the other kinds of taxes we could think of."

"We don't know yet which ones we'll use. We might need all of them."

Doughton added that although the president's $9,000,000,000 request was the basis of present tax discussions, no specific goals have been set yet.

Senator George added, "after all, this was only a preliminary conference and we may have to have two or three more."

Pending these conferences between leaders and the treasury, Doughton said he did not know how soon his committee would begin hearings on a tax bill. His hearings previously had been expected to start about January 15.

In his budget message Wednesday, the president proposed that congress enact $2,000,000,000 of additional social security taxes plus $7,000,000,000 of any other kind of taxes, except a general sales tax. The president added, however, that although he opposed a general sales tax, he believed it might be necessary to put specific excise taxes on a large number of individual commodities.

Commandeering of Autos by U. S. Not in Present Plans

Washington, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson issued a formal statement today assuring the nation the government has no plans to commandeer private automobiles and explaining that fears of commandeering undoubtedly arose from his own answers to question, at a press conference January 2.

At that time Henderson said commandeering of automobiles was "one of the gloomy possibilities" that a prolonged war might bring about.

Henderson said today the government "presently is well supplied with automobiles" and added there was no occasion for citizens to offer their cars for public use.

Government Grateful
"I did not indicate that any such actions (as commandeering) was likely or necessary now or in the foreseeable future," the price administrator said. "Indeed, at one point in the conference, according to the stenographic transcript, it was stated: 'I think it is bad enough to freeze things without having to go out and commandeer them.'"

"Reports have reached my office that in some areas citizens are offering to turn over their cars for government use. These offers are commendable and patriotic. However, the government presently is well supplied with automobiles, and while grateful

Seeds, Livestock Feed, Free of Tax

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9.—(AP)—The state finance department today issued a ruling exempting sales of seeds and livestock feeds from the state sales tax when such sales are made to farmers for the purpose of growing crops, feeding livestock for market or producing milk and eggs.

The new ruling, which will result in considerable tax savings to farmers was promulgated after seven law suits had been filed in Sangamon county Circuit court challenging the legality of the tax on sales of seeds and livestock feeds. The tax, which previously had been levied on seed sales, also was placed on sales of feeds last August by the finance department.

Announcing the new ruling, Governor Green said that the tax relief "should benefit Illinois agriculture at a time when its welfare is vital to national defense."

The department also ruled that sale of breeding animals to farmers shall not be subjected to the sales tax.

Finance Director George B. McKibbin said that a re-examination of the tax on seed and feed sales had resulted in an opinion by department legal advisers that "sales of seeds that go to produce grain and other farm products and sales of feeds that ultimately result in meat, milk or eggs are not retail sales."

Shortage of Natural Gas Stressed by OPM

Washington, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The Office of Production Management urges consumers of natural gas in Illinois, as well as those of eight other states, to cut their gas consumption as much as possible to make the fuel available for war industries.

The OPM said the shortage of natural gas was serious in these areas. It added it was especially serious in a number of larger cities, including Chicago, where residential consumers could help reduce the shortage.

Residential consumers, it said, could help in the war effort by keeping room temperatures as low as possible, but cutting off heat in all unoccupied rooms and by using gas ranges, water heaters and other gas appliances sparingly.

Nippon Gets Taste of Thing She Fears Most: Sea Blockade

Transport, Freight, and Three Supply Ships Sent to Bottom

Japan got a preview taste today of the thing she dreads most—a possible blockade of her densely-populated island empire—as Imperial headquarters acknowledged an allied submarine raid within 100 miles of Tokyo in which the 2,225-ton freighter Unkai Maru No. 1 was torpedoed and damaged.

The nationality of the attacking craft was not given.

Previously, a U. S. navy bulletin reported that submarines of the American Asiatic fleet had sunk a 10,000-ton Japanese transport and three 10,000-ton Japanese supply ships.

In the Philippine campaign, the war department reported that "combat operations dwindled to minor skirmishes" as the Japanese moved up troops for a climactic drive against Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces on Balan peninsula.

The navy's communique was the first report in many days from the sizeable undersea force operating in Far East waters at the start of the war, a month ago, but naval officials emphasized that the dangerous missions of the submarines made prompt reports foolhardy while operations are proceeding.

Early Thursday Morning
Imperial Tokyo headquarters said the attack in Japanese waters occurred early yesterday morning off the Izu Shichito islands, 100 miles south of Tokyo and Yokohama.

Official acknowledgment that the war has been brought to Japan's own doorstep came as the victory-flushed Nipponese boasted of the possibility of outright conquest of the United States.

"The contention that the United States cannot be invaded is as much a myth as that the Maginot line could not be taken, or that Singapore and Pearl Harbor are impregnable," said the government-controlled Japan Times and Advertiser.

On the Malayan fighting front, a Tokyo communique asserted that Japanese troops had driven the British out of defense lines at

Sugar Rationing to Stop Hoarding Is Being Considered

Washington, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The government may order sugar rationing for consumers, authoritative sources said today, in order to halt an unwarranted hoarding epidemic.

Disclosing that such action was being considered, these sources declared that the supply situation in itself did not require rationing, but that regulation appeared necessary to assure an equitable distribution among all users. Present supplies were said to be ample, and prospects were that they would continue sufficient throughout the year. Nevertheless, officials reported, many consumers have been buying in excess of normal needs and storing the extra supplies for use in event of shortage and higher prices, such as occurred in the first World War. It was explained that these practices, if allowed to continue much longer, might result in acute shortages later for non-hoarders.

Miss Muriel Ventler of Ashton Injured in Collision This Morn

Miss Muriel Ventler of Ashton, secretary in the office of State's Attorney Morey C. Pires, miraculously escaped serious injury in a head-on automobile crash this morning at 7:45 o'clock at the junctions of U. S. routes 52 and alternate 30 at the east city limits.

Miss Ventler was coming into Dixon and near the junction the fine snow, which covered the ice, caused her to skid.

A Hammermill grinding machine mounted on a truck and driven by Sam Hartzell of 1219 Galena avenue, was going east on the Lincoln Highway and when Miss Ventler lost control of her car it skidded into the front of the truck. She was thrown against the windshield and rendered unconscious, the glass being shattered. She was removed from her car, which was badly wrecked, and taken to the Dixon public hospital where examinations disclosed numerous painful bruises and minor cuts. After being treated, she was taken to her home in Ashton and her car was hauled to a local garage. The truck driver was uninjured and his truck only slightly damaged.

Warning

Chicago, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Military authorities have authorized the Chicago weather bureau to issue a special warning of a cold wave in northern Illinois tonight.

Forecaster H. A. Downs said the temperature might sink as low as 12 below zero at Rockford, 10 below at Chicago, and range up to zero in other sections of the area.

Long Distance Telephone Helps Cupid Score Again Over Conflict

San Francisco, Jan. 9.—(AP)—A husky, young soldier with close-cropped blond hair picked up a telephone in a minister's study.

His fiancée, half-a-continent away, picked up another telephone in the parlor of her rooming house.

And eight minutes and $6.85 worth of telephone time later Private Charles R. Bogar and Mrs. Margaret Pickering were united in marriage in a long distance ceremony that chalked up another score for Cupid over the war.

It was simple as that—the marriage of Bogar in San Francisco and Mrs. Pickering in Hutchinson, Kas., last night. But today Bogar was back at his post at Fort McDowell. His wife, still in Kansas, promised "to pray for you every night and I'll be waiting here for you."

The two had planned to wed on Christmas Day in Salt Lake City in a regular, face-to-face ceremony. But Bogar was transferred to the west coast on Dec. 1 and the army isn't handing out many furloughs these days.

Minor Skirmishes Feature Battle in Philippines Today

Invaders' Inactivity Apparently Is Lull Before the Storm

Washington, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The war department said today combat operations have dwindled to minor skirmishes in the Philippine battle front, with the Japanese continuing to move troops up in apparent preparation for a heavy attack.

The department's morning communique, based on reports received here up to 8:30 a. m. CST, said that air activity by the Japanese yesterday was limited to reconnaissance.

The text of the communique: "1. Philippine theater. Combat operations have dwindled to desultory skirmishes in various sections of the front. The enemy continues to move troops into the forward areas, apparently in preparation for a renewed attack in force."

"Hostile air activity yesterday was limited to reconnaissance flights."

"2. There is nothing to report from other areas."

Outlook Still Dark
The outlook continued dark for the United States and British forces battling to hold the Philippines and the Malay peninsula.

In the Philippines the Japanese, pouring in a steady stream of reinforcements to multiply their numerical superiority, massed for an all-out attack against the remnants of General Douglas MacArthur's weary army northwest of Manila.

On the Malay peninsula the imperialists were being forced back relentlessly by the weight of unceasing enemy drives which carried the battle flags of Nippon ever closer to the great Singapore stronghold.

Somber as the situation was, the capital found a few rays of comfort. The navy reported the sinking of four Japanese army ships. Advances from Burma credited American volunteer fliers with new successes in attacks on enemy bases in Thailand. And belated details of Wake's defense added fresh glory to the Marines' laurels, as well as two more enemy ships to the toll they took before the island fell.

The submarine report was the first in many days from the long-silent undersea units of the Asiatic fleet. The navy communique last night said that one of the Japanese ships sunk was a transport, and the three others were supply ships. Each was estimated at 10,000 tons.

Much Was Expected
Much had been expected from the sizeable submarine force that was in the Far East at the outbreak of the war, but the announced results to date have not been numerous. However, naval officials stressed that the dangerous missions of the submarines make prompt reports foolhardy while operations are proceeding.

In a stirring postscript to the already memorable defense of Wake, the navy last night disclosed that the Marines had sunk a Japanese destroyer and a gunboat in addition to the cruisers, submarine and three destroyers previously claimed.

The information was based on day-by-day accounts of the siege as recorded by Majors Paul A. Putnam and Walter L. J. Bayler of the small Marine air force on the island. The reports were flown from Wake by a patrol plane on Dec. 20, two days before the defenders were overwhelmed.

Island Blasted 3 Days
Japanese bombers blasted the island for three days, the reports said, before a dozen enemy ships steamed in for a landing in force. The Marine garrison waited until the flotilla was within 4,700 yards, and then opened up a devastating fire with the island's battery of 3-and 5-inch guns. The Japanese casualties were one light cruiser, two destroyers and one gunboat.

The reports also told of the indefatigable resourcefulness and ingenuity which kept Marine planes in the air almost to the bitter end. Parts and assemblies were traded back and forth. Engines were switched from plane to plane, junked, stripped, rebuilt and all but created. Planes that were bombed on the ground yielded salvaged parts that kept others flying.

The navy communique which recited this never-say-die story also announced that President Roosevelt had cited the defense of Wake as something which had aroused the admiration of the nation and the civilized world "and will not be forgotten so long as

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Simeon, Devout and Righteous, Saw Fulfillment of His Hope for Messiah

Text: Luke 2:25-35, 39, 40

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

This is a beautiful lesson. Its chief character is not the infant
Jesus, but the saint in Israel,
Simeon, to whom the parents brought the child Jesus to fulfill the ritual requirements of the Jewish law.

the very brief description of Simeon! We are told that he was righteous and devout, that he looked for what Luke called "the consolation of Israel," and that the Holy Spirit was upon him.
Could anything greater be said of any man?

We know what it means to be righteous. A righteous man is true and honest in all his ways;
there is no place in his character or in his deeds for anything mean or shabby. Here is the foundation of everything that is truly worthwhile. No matter how beautiful a man's life may appear or what fine qualities he may possess, his life is like a building on a flimsy and unsound foundation unless he is fundamentally righteous. Simeon was righteous.

What does it mean to be devout? It means that one's life has a certain quality and direction. It is devoted to something.
A man may be righteous, but his righteousness may move in a very narrow sphere. No great love or loyalty may dominate his thoughts and words and deeds, but the devout man is not so. Perhaps we have a very good description of him in the first Psalm, which tells of the man who is blessed because he "walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly." "In His law doth he meditate day and night." The devout man is thoughtful. He aspires always to a better knowledge of God and a greater strength to do God's will. Simeon was devout.

A righteous and devout priest, well versed in the Jewish Scriptures, would have found it impossible not to have his life filled with vision, and hope, and expectation. These Scriptures told of a Messiah who was to come, a great Savior and Deliverer, the glory of whose coming and reign was described in rich and beautiful terms. All his life Simeon had lived in the devoutness of this hope.

"Looking for the consolation of Israel."

A strong spiritual conviction had developed in Simeon, some mystic words of God, that he should not see death until he had seen "the Lord's Christ," this Messiah of his faith, his longing, and his expectation. When Joseph and Mary brought the child to Simeon, this same mystic feeling assured him that the day he had looked for had come. Glory filled his soul.
Life had nothing greater to offer,
and he poured out his soul to God in blessing and in that beautiful prayer which we call the Nunc Dimittis. Could there be anywhere in a few simple words, a more adequate expression of the meaning of this hope of the Messiah and its fulfillment?

The greatest experiences of joy are touched with sorrow and Simeon suggested something of the suffering as well as the glory and satisfaction of Mary through the coming mission of her Son. These words of Simeon were among the things that Mary "kept and pondered in her heart" as she and Joseph returned to Galilee, prepared to do their part in the care and training of the child who grew and waxed strong, and who was filled with the wisdom and grace of God.

Surely the hearts of many parents may respond to this beautiful scene! And the hope of many who still look for the consolation of humanity, despite the sad and violent times, may be quickened anew. We know that the Lord Jesus, the Prince of Peace, has come though the world has not recognized Him.

North Central P.-T. A. Hears Panel Program

A comprehensive panel discussion on the subject, "Equipping a Child to Live in a Democracy," provided a program of outstanding interest for members of the North Central Parent-Teacher Association at their January meeting Wednesday evening. Speakers were E. J. Frazer, principal of Dixon high school; Dr. and Mrs. Rosenberg, who came to the United States from Germany about three years ago; Merton Memler, a parent; Mrs. Carl Buchner, Jr., a parent; Miss Geraldson, faculty member; former State's Attorney Edward Jones; and the Rev. Father B. Norman Burke.

"A good many years ago," Principal Frazer reminded his listeners, "Jesus introduced and taught the principles of an ideal existence. Upon these principles, our democracy was founded." "Democracy," he continued, "is putting into practice the principles of Christ through government. In my opinion, democracy is not a form of government, but a way of looking at the government and at each other." This democratic way of living, he believes, must be taught to every generation.

Dr. Rosenberg read a written message from his wife, who could not be present because of illness. Drawing a vivid contrast between the totalitarian form of government and democracy, Mrs. Rosenberg wrote: "We must realize how precious are our rights as individuals in this country—and that there is no price too high to pay to keep these rights."

In Germany, she explained, one is shouted at by public officials, and little respect is shown for the individual. "Special permission must be obtained to change one's address or place of employment, out of town visits, and building, all deaths and births must be registered at police headquarters, and there is little or no privacy. 'A place of business or private home may be entered and searched for little reason,' she commented.

"Our democracy is a heritage," Dr. Rosenberg declared, "and as good citizens, we have obligation to it." Everyone's goal is happiness, he continued, "and we may attain it by a philosophy of religion, cultural progress and physical well being."

Speaking from a father's standpoint, Mr. Memler recommended that all fathers should "have knowledge of and understand our country's democracy, its history and its laws; present this knowledge and understanding to the child in a manner that makes it become a part of the child; and in so doing, create a democratic, patriotic citizen."

"It would be a good thing," Mr. Memler declared, "if parents would review the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, and train our children to share their responsibility to our government—lest our privileges be lost to them."

Mrs. Buchner compared the government with a home, and urged parents to be more tolerant, treating the child as an important individual, impressing him with his responsibility to other members of the family, and respecting his

COMMUNITY PLAYERS ARE ANNOUNCING "THE PATSY" AS THEIR NEXT PRODUCTION

The Community Players are announcing their second play of the season, "The Patsy," to be presented Thursday evening, Jan. 22, at the Loveland Community House. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Redebaugh are to direct the production, a three-act comedy by Barry Connors, first successfully produced at the Booth Theatre on Broadway.

The play is brimming with humor throughout. Pop Harrington (Harold Wade), a hail-fellow-well-met character and his family live in a medium-sized town. His wife, (Patricia Conneely), and her daughter, Grace, (Lorraine Baker), are social climbers.

Patsy (Louise Black), the younger sister, and her father are not so socially inclined, a circumstance that leads to many humorous incidents. Two young men, Tony Anderson (Arthur Hill) and Billy Caldwell (Lynne Jenks) are suitors for the older sister, Grace, but Patsy upsets their plans.

Other members of the cast include: Sadie Buchanan, Rose Sterling; Francis Patrick O'Flaherty, Louise Leydig; and "Trip" Busty, Richard Belcher.

Chester Zalecki and Bride Will Live in Waterloo

St. Mary's church at Champaign was the scene of an impressive winter wedding on Saturday, Dec. 27, when Miss Margaret Rear, daughter of the George Rears of Urbana, became the bride of Chester Zalecki, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Zalecki of 1006 Galena avenue, Dixon.

Scarlet poinsettias banked the high altar for the nuptial service. A. P. Harshman was at the organ for the nuptial mass, repeating the same music he had played at the silver wedding mass of the bridegroom's parents. The selections included "Hearts and Flowers," the Liszt Liebestraum, Estrellita, and Millard's Veni Creator Spiritus.

Strains of a traditional wedding march announced the approach of the bridal party. Miss Elaine Rear was her sister's only attendant, and Leonard Zalecki served his brother as best man.

A turkey dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, following the ceremony. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Michael Zalecki, Leonard Zalecki, and A. P. Harshman of Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wirtz of Chicago, and Leo Adams of Tampico.

The bride formerly attended the University of Illinois. Mr. Zalecki, also a former student at the University, is now an engineering inspector for the federal government. The couple will make their home in Waterloo, Iowa.

"Ches" was short stop on the ball teams of St. Mary's and Dixon high schools here for ten years.

A Thought for Today

If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away;—hold, all things are become new.—II Corinthians 5:17.

He from the mighty doubter the great believer makes.—R. W. Gilder.

It Will Take Fighting to Win

So much has been written recently about the immense productive facilities of the United States that some people may be getting a warped idea of what it takes to win a war.

It takes production, all right. It is good that we can produce empty-steen tons of steel and that we can build this and that many ships, planes, and guns. That must be done, right up to the hilt, on a scale the Axis powers cannot match.

The grisly mistake, however, would be to fall into the habit of feeling that somehow this wins the war automatically, that in some mysterious manner the Axis peoples are going to gaze across the sea at this impressive pile of war material and then just lie down and roll over.

That is not the way wars are won. Wars are won by fighting. Wars are won by killing enemy soldiers and sailors.

In every one of those tanks there must be between two and eight fighting men. On every one of those ships there must be between 50 and 2500 fighting men. Behind every rifle and machine gun there must be a fighting man.

And when all that armament is ready, and all those men are trained, then they must fight, and many of them must die.

We do not for a moment minimize the importance, the vital importance, of building every weapon our economy can be made to produce at whatever necessary temporary cost to the civilian standard of living. We do not minimize the advantage to the United States and its allies of their tremendous material resources, though if the Japanese seize the Philippines and the East Indies, even that advantage will be to some extent offset. These are tremendous advantages, of which we must make the most, seven days a week and 24 hours a day.

But victory is not assured by them. We could lose the war if the aggressive spirit is lost. The war, in the long run, will be won by killing Germans and Italians and Japanese. That sounds harsh, but it is true. It is war.

In all our talk about production and resources, let us not forget for one minute that this is war, and war is killing, and war is won by beating the enemy's troops in the field. Let us not beguile ourselves with subconscious lullabies sung by contemplation of our great resources. Two million American men in the armed forces are not thus lulled. Other millions face the reality on Feb. 16.

Our task is not only to produce weapons. It is to use them. It is to seek out the enemy and destroy him. In that task many an American faces wounds and death.

There is potential victory on the drawing-boards, in shop, mill and mine. But it cannot become actual victory until it is translated into terms of dead enemies lying before the flaming muzzles of American guns.

The News Carriers Came Through

Newspaper carriers have for many years set up an admirable record of dependability and service. In all weathers, in all conditions of disaster and disorder, they deliver the news.

It is a pleasure to read a tribute to its carrier boys by the Honolulu Star-Bulletin. Despite the confusion attendant on the sudden and unexpected attack on the islands by the Japanese, the carrier boys never missed a delivery. "All around the island," the Star-Bulletin reported directly after the raids, "the paper is being delivered to its customers daily, and in most cases on time or ahead of time." Because the Star-Bulletin is the only comprehensive and authoritative news source on the islands, these boys of every race have performed a public service, and added one more sprig to the laurels of that great American institution, the newspaper carrier boy.

The Numbers Nuisance

The itch for the cheap prestige that goes with a low auto license number plate, or one containing only one's initials or telephone number or the date of his great-grandmother's birth, has always been a nuisance. It never was worth the time it took public employees to handle it.

Now there is important work to be done, and no time at all for such monkeyshines. Florida is charging an extra dollar for special plates of this kind. Indiana has had as many as 20,000 applications for special plates, a nuisance for whose existence there never was any excuse even in normal times. One way to save the taxpayers' money is to save the time public employees hitherto spent in catering to this peculiar form of megalomania.

Rent Control

Washington, the capital, is in the lead in rent control, a problem which has struck almost every city in greater or less degree. First, the problem is more aggravated there because of congestion at the hub of the country, and second, the District of Columbia being directly under control of congress it is subject to forms of regulation that may be impracticable in most communities.

An act going into effect Jan. 1 in Washington aims to peg rents at their level as of Jan. 1, 1941. The act remains in force until 1945, Washington tried rent control by law during and after the first World War, with varied degrees of success. Now its experiment will undoubtedly be watched as a laboratory test by other communities in which rent boosts have fallen all too often on the part of the people least able to bear them.

Lots of people have solved the problem of what to do with worn out shoes. Wear them!

It'll take more than a ban on tire sales to keep this country from rolling right along!

Wright Formally Enters Race For Sen. Brooks' Post

Announces Candidacy for United States Senate In Statement Today

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 9.—(AP)—State Treasurer Warren Wright became an avowed candidate today for the United States senate seat now held by Senator C. W. Land Brooks.

Wright announced he would campaign for the Republican senatorial nomination in the April 14 primary on a pledge of full support of President Roosevelt's war effort. Since Senator Brooks is expected to seek renomination, Wright's announcement gave a definite indication there would be a GOP primary contest for the top office to be filled in this year's elections.

In his statement of candidacy Wright said the party should renounce "mistaken leaders who x x x resisted every essential step in our national defense" prior to the United States' entry into the war.

He made it clear his campaign against Brooks would be based upon the latter's non-interventionist stand in congress before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. Wright recalled in his statement that he advocated support of the president's program previous to the war declarations against the axis powers.

Issue Statement

"While the dictators were plotting the war against America," the statement said, "mistaken leaders have resisted every essential step in our national defense and have heaped personal abuse on the president of the United States."

"Pearl Harbor established the falsity of the obstructionist argument that America could never be attacked x x. But Republicans in Illinois cannot hope for the endorsement of the voters of our state next November, until we have set our own house in order and proved by the primaries of 1942 that these few mistaken men did not, and do not, speak for the millions of loyal Republican men and women of our state."

Wright said he entered the campaign with the single pledge to "support whatever measures will insure speedy and complete triumph for the cause of liberty over Hitler and Japan."

In apparent response to reports that Governor Green might support Senator Brooks' for renomination, Wright said he had "asked no man's permission" to enter the campaign and added:

Sees Open Primary

"The present Republican leadership in Illinois is committed to a pledge that it will never attempt to build up a Republican machine. I am confident that this senatorial primary of 1942 will be an open poll of the Republican men and women of the state on the qualifications of the candidates, and the issues they espouse."

Wright, 48, has served a year of his two-year term as treasurer, a post in which he cannot succeed himself. He was elected state treasurer over Homer Mat Adams in 1940, receiving 2,030,513 votes for 1,983,667 for the Democratic nominee. It was his second race for treasurer. Wright formerly lived in Jacksonville.

In addition to Brooks and Wright, there have been reports of other potential GOP aspirants, among them Ralph E. Church of Evanston, former congressman. No Democratic senatorial candidacies have been announced, but speculation has centered around State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney of Cook county, and, more recently, Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago was mentioned as a possibility.

Wright said he had not completed his campaign organization, but it was expected Oscar Nelson of Geneva, former state auditor who is a member of the treasurer's staff, would be active in directing his campaign.

Earlier this week, GOP Congressman-at-Large William G. Stratton of Morris announced he would seek Wright's post as state treasurer.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Jan. 8.—Fast readers may have the notion from Roosevelt's speech that he is dispatching land, air and sea expeditions to Britain. He did not say that. Note well his words that they are to "take stations in the British Isles".

England needs troops less than Newcastle needs coal. She is over-run with more than 3,000,000 men in uniform, but there is a very large unprotected section of the "British Isles" which could use American land, air and sea forces to a good advantage, politically, economically and belligerently.

A one-paragraph item out of Dublin the following day betrayed the prospects. It said the Irish would rather have American than British troops.

As American forces go into those valuable bases, however, they will have to furnish extensive anti-aircraft protection to Irish cities. Once established, they can clean the Atlantic of German submarines.

FDR was astonished by one item in his own budget—the appropriation for free-food disposition under the food stamp plan. In his budget explanation conference for news-men, his finger stopped when he reached the item of $7,000,000 a month for this purpose. He asked a budget adviser why the amount was so large, and then remarked someone else would have to justify such a large expenditure before congress.

Free distribution of food hardly fits in with Roosevelt's program of food conservation to meet war and post-war requirements.

Another thing Roosevelt or someone else will have to justify to congress is the new Roosevelt position on business and taxes. He said he not only wants to abolish war profits which already have been done in the excess profits tax but to abolish the peace-time profits which some businesses made before the war and which FDR now considers "excessive".

That is why congressional tax bill makers Doughnut's comment on the budget was limited to the observation that his committee would have to see that no one killed the goose that lays eggs.

Congress will not follow the vague Roosevelt tax recommendations. It never has.

Roosevelt's budget left Treasury Secretary Morgenthau and his 15 barrel under the ice. The president nonchalantly suggested only that congress might consider payroll and other taxes. That was not enough. House Defense Committee Chairman Morganthau has been promoting around the house ways and means committee. Mark it dead.

A serious tie-up of freight west of Chicago to the Pacific coast has resulted from the concentration of traffic in that direction. Freight has occasionally been backed up all the way to Salt Lake City.

Rail Defense Coordinator Joe Eastman is tackling this as his first problem and will have it straightened out shortly.

Much goods are likely to be routed hereafter on special military rail cars and a reorganization of the existing military traffic system will come immediately.

Now each branch of the war department (air, engineers, ordnance, quartermaster, etc.) has a separate traffic director. Overall control is necessary.

What this army needs as much as planes and tanks is a large number of officers with modern battle experience. It needs captains and lieutenants who have been there, who know actual conditions to be met by the American expeditionary forces which are to complete the encirclement of the axis.

Consequently a liberal number of junior officers will be in the first batch to be sent to Africa, Russia, the Far East, Ireland.

Church Societies

W. S. C. S.—Circles One and Two of the Women's Society of Christian Service enjoyed a co-operative luncheon preceding their business meetings at the Methodist church. The devotions which, stressed patriotism, were conducted by Mrs. F. L. Blewfield. The program of the afternoon included piano numbers by Miss Lois Blimling and a reading from the book "The White Cliff" by Alice Duer Miller, given by Mrs. A. I. Hardy. The meeting was closed by the group singing "America."

Immediate Army of 4,000,000 Men Plan of War Department

Draft Quotas and Calls Will Not Be Published Hereafter

Washington, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Officials disclosed today that inductions into the army were being stepped up to double or triple the peace-time rate, and indications were that the immediate goal was a hard-hitting land force of four million men.

The army is accelerating the induction of present registrants, which include about 1,000,000 already classified as 1A, without waiting to draw from the 9,000,000 men between 20 and 44 inclusive who are expected to register Feb. 16.

No limit has been set on the war-time size of the army to be sent to Britain and anywhere else the high command may deem advisable. Secretary Stimson says the number to be drawn from the 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 available fit men will be determined by the needs as they arise.

Present strength has been placed at around 1,700,000 officers and men, and plans already under way would increase this to 2,000,000. Appropriations have been made to provide complete equipment for another million and critical equipment for a fourth million.

Draft Rate Doubled

Although the war department has issued orders against publication of draft calls and quotas for each area, officials made no secret of the fact that the draft rate was being doubled and might soon be trebled, if such has not already been ordered.

Revised figures on the number of draftees to be put in uniform this month and next month from the present pool of registrants will not be announced, but before the United States formally entered the war the combined January-February total had been set at 192,000.

Of the 17,500,000 men between 21 and 36 already registered, about 9,000 now are in active service. Selective service officials estimate another 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 could be obtained, if necessary, without dipping into the new Feb. 16 registrants. However, it is likely that many of the latter, especially the younger men, will be inducted early along with the existing eligibles.

Cards Prepared

Cards are now being printed for distribution to the nation's 6,500 draft boards, in preparation for the Feb. 16 registration. All male citizens and some non-citizens born on or after Feb. 17, 1897, and on or before Dec. 31, 1921, must sign up on that day between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m.

After these estimated 9,000,000 are registered, local boards will give a each a serial number. Then a lottery will be held, similar to those of Oct. 16, 1940, and July 1, 1941. Capsules will be drawn from a glass bowl to determine the order in which the new registrants are to be called for military duty or deferred for physical or other reasons.

Crop Insurance to Corn Raisers Hope of FCIC in Future

Washington, Jan. 9.—(AP)—The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation reported today it had made progress in research looking to the extension of production insurance to growers of corn, tobacco, rice and citrus fruits.

The corporation is now authorized by law to insure growers against losses on wheat and cotton crops, resulting from drought, floods, freezes, hail, insects and other hazards. Wheat insurance has been in effect since 1939, and is being offered on cotton for the first time.

Under the wheat and cotton plan, growers pay a premium based on a crop loss history of their farms. The premium is determined in terms of bushels of wheat or pounds of cotton. It may be paid in wheat or cotton or in cash equivalent. Farmers are insured for either 50 or 75 per cent of their normal production.

Applicable to Others
"The plan of computing premiums and indemnities in kind and paying in cash equivalent, the method of collecting premiums, and the method of paying indemnities as used in the wheat program seem applicable to some other crops," said the corporation in its annual report.

The corporation said it had collected corn-yield data records from 20,000 farms in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Kentucky.

A difficulty in the case of corn, the corporation said, was the influence of hybrid corn on yields and its regular adoption throughout the corn belt.

Number of persons employed in the U. S. rose to 49,310,000 in September, the highest number on record. Unemployment fell to 3,695,000 for the same month, smallest figur. since November 1929.

Peoria Distillers Ready to Acceed to Nelson Order

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 9.—(AP)—The big distilleries in the Peoria-Pekin area are all set to follow the government's order to turn their available facilities into production of industrial alcohol.

In fact, one of them, the American Distilling Company plant at Pekin, already is making ethyl alcohol, a smokeless powder ingredient, while the others say they can switch as soon as they receive the order to do so from the Office of Production Management.

The order, issued by Donald M. Nelson, OPM Director of Priorities in Washington, provided that distilleries with facilities to make industrial alcohol from corn or other grain must use them after January 15 only in producing industrial alcohol.

The American Distilling Company plant started in mid-December to work on a government order for 1,600,000 gallons by processing government-owned corn and is expected to be through with the order in a few weeks.

The Hiram Walker & Sons plant here is described as the world's largest distillery. The Century Distilling Company also has a large plant here.

Officials said yesterday that although they had not received word of the order as yet, they had been expecting it for some time and so were ready to go into production at once.

THE STORY: Mom Baumer wangles permission from Jane Ann Judson, last of aristocratic Maures of rambling Tambay Plantation, to set up "Feederia" lunch wagon there, wonders why such a pretty girl is soured on world. She acquires customers in bearded Prof. Loren Oliver of Welliver U., who is digging for Indian relics at Tambay, football star Angel Todd, interested in Juddy who cold-shoulders his invitations. Dolt, Mom's pet skunk, makes acquaintance of Old Snowy, a Slovene refugee "Doc" Oliver is harboring.

CHAPTER V

FOUR likely looking lads came in at nine-fifteen the evening of the Rogues' dance and called for waffles. Juddy, who was oiling up the order trolley, didn't even give them a look. One of them, a brainy looking bird in spectacles, began to hum the Frosh Song.

"Go tell your dear old Gramma That good old Chi Rho Gamma Is pious like a Sunday school, so won't you join our band?"

It was the signal. They all stood up and yelled "What! No beer?" and stuck a bag over Juddy's head and shoulders and carried her out to their car. I yelled "Police!" a couple of times for the record and sneaked into the front seat beside Specs.

"Pause for station identification," he said, and they opened up with a song. Then the back seat went to it, like the college kids do.

"Rags!"

"Huh?"

"Take a peek in the bag. See if she's alive."

"Does it matter?"

"I think we ought to know. Just for curiosity, lady, are you alive?"

"Have no fear, little one," Rags said. "Bury ruffians though we be, we mean you no harm to life and limb. With less gentlemen-gangsters you might be facing a fate worse than death."

Juddy giggled and I felt better about her. They pulled up at an abandoned shack and bundled Juddy out and into it, while I sat on the steps to check on developments. One of them flashed a light, and she blinked when the bag was off.

She handed them a haughty one. "I suppose this is some Freshman prank."

"You might have asked me that before you started."

"She doesn't mind," Tatters said.

"The social amenities must be preserved," the big, rawboned redhead said. "Permit me." He pointed to the one with spectacles. "Presenting Watrous Smith. He's

Louis Favorite to Win 20th Defense of His Ring Crown

Meets Buddy Baer This Evening in Madison Square Garden

FACTS AND FIGURES
(By The Associated Press)
The bout—15 rounds for the world heavyweight championship. Principals—Joe Louis, Detroit, champion; Jacob (Buddy) Baer, Sacramento, Calif., challenger. Place—Madison Square Garden, New York.
Time—Main bout 10 p. m. (E. S. T.); first preliminary 8:15 p. m. (E. S. T.).
Promoter—Mike Jacobs, Twentieth Century Sporting Club. Estimated attendance—20,000. Beneficiary—Navy Relief Society to get entire promotional profits. Louis' entire end, minus training expenses, and 2 1/2 per cent of Baer's cut. Total estimated at $100,000.
Approximate weights—Louis 204 1/2; Baer 245.
Betting odds—Louis 1 to 6 to win, 1 to 2 to score a knockout.
Officials—Referee and judges to be named by the New York State Athletic Commission.
Broadcast—Mutual Broadcasting System.

New York, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Jacob (Buddy) Baer, having been guilty of knocking Champion Joe Louis clear out of the ring in Washington last spring, probably will pay for his sins, with interest, tonight in Madison Square Garden.

This time the towering Californian faces a perfectly conditioned, fight-keen Joe Louis, impatient to wipe out any stigma that might have attached to his victory over Baer last May, when Buddy was disqualified for refusing to come out for the seventh round.

So impressive has the big Negro been in his workouts that the bookmakers are offering only 1-6 odds that he is successful in the 20th defense of his world title; 1-2 that he stops Baer inside the 15 rounds. A good even bet is that Baer won't wear as well as he did in Washington.

Donovan Not Likely
As usual, the referee will not be named until just before the principals enter the ring. Chances are it will not be the most noted of the arbiters, Arthur Donovan, because it was Arthur who disqualified Baer in the Washington battle and incurred the terrible wrath of Buddy's manager, Ancil Hoffman. However, it is entirely possible that our boxing commissioners will put Donovan in there just to prove that they can't be intimidated by Hoffman or anybody else.

Buddy was expected to weigh in at about 245 pounds at the athletic commission today, while Louis had planned his training to bring him into the ring between 204-5, the heaviest since he became champion.

Billiards Experts Gets Into Action in Chicago Match

By EARL HILLIGAN

Chicago, Jan. 9.—(AP)—One of the most exclusive and talented fields in all sports will swing into action tonight in the opening program of the world's three-cushion billiards championship. In that field will be Ralph Greenleaf, a native of Monmouth, Ill., who comes out with the astonishing statement that he will not win this coveted title.

It's astonishing because in most sports every entry openly predicts "This is my year." But Greenleaf knows billiards for the tough tournament game it is and only hopes to make a good showing in this, his first three-cushion championship bid.

Perhaps the greatest star pocket billiards ever produced, Greenleaf has held the championship in that game 17 times. He's going to continue to play the pocket game, but from now on he has his eye on the three-cushion crown.

Cites Two Stars

"I know I have quite a long way to go," he said. "If I can finish as good as fourth I'll be quite satisfied. You know Willie Hoppe (a heavy favorite to retain his championship) needed about 12 years of work before he won his first three-rail championship. And Jake Schaefer (long-time balkline ace) never has won this title."

Tonight's initial session will pit Hoppe against Earl Lookabaugh of Chicago in the first game. In the second Art Rubin of New York will play Joe Chamaco, the colorful Mexican star. Greenleaf isn't slated for action until Monday. The tournament, with no Saturday night or Sunday games, will run through Jan. 23. The field includes Welker Cochran, San Francisco; Art Thunblad, Chicago; Otto Reisel, Philadelphia; John Fitzpatrick, Los Angeles, and Jake Schaefer, Cleveland.

Yankees Likely to Remain in Estate

By The Associated Press

New York, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Jake Ruppert, in whose heart baseball occupied a place as big as his gigantic brewery, may get his wish—long after death—that the New York Yankees remain in his estate.

The war has closed the market on the world champions, not only "for the duration," but probably for a much longer time.

Byron Clark Jr., who was the late colonel's personal attorney and is the active trustee for the ball club, said today that all prospect of a sale had vanished with the advent of war.

"I haven't heard anything from Jim Farley in a long time and no one else has shown any interest," he explained. "It would be impossible to raise any considerable amount of money under present conditions, so the whole thing is dead."

"Maybe it will turn out the way the colonel wanted, after all!" When the 71-old bachelor Jacob Ruppert died three years ago this month, he left his entire fortune to three women—two of them nieces and the other a friend, but separated the ball club from his other property in his will and made express plans for its continuance under the Ruppert banner.

In spite of all provisions, the executors of the colonel's will decided soon after his death that the tremendous tax complications of the estate could best be solved by surrendering the ball club. But nobody has been able to get together enough money to swing the deal.

Fist Fights Outnumber Goals in Hockey Games

By The Associated Press

Fist fights outnumbered the ice tilts in the National Hockey League last night.

The extra curricular activity was confined to Chicago, where the Blackhawks snapped a six-game losing streak by dumping the Montreal Canadiens 5-1 in a contest marked by three player battles.

But the evening's biggest thrill was turned in by the Brooklyn Americans, who stormed from behind with four goals in the final period to nip the Detroit Red Wings 4-4 at New York.

A fight for each period enlivened the proceedings at Chicago, and the third one outlasted the game.

The game-ending horn signaled the start of the main event, as players pitched into a general free-for-all on the Montreal bench and fists flew for five minutes.

Spectators and ushers jockeyed for vantage points, but the crowd didn't get into the battle and order finally was restored.

Horse-drawn sleighs and bob-sleds manufactured in the U. S. in 1939 totaled only 125.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

(Wide World Sports Columnist)

New York, Jan. 9.—(Wide World)—If you like Buddy Baer against Louis tonight you can practically write your own ticket with the betting boys, who aren't doing any business. . . . Or you can follow the football system, as reported by E. T. Bales of the Chattanooga (Tenn.) News-Free Press. He heard a guy offer to take Baer and eleven rounds. . . . For the benefit of the navy boys who can't listen in on the broadcast, Mike Jacobs is giving a free copy of the films for shows on shipboard and at the naval stations. . . . Following up Buck Weaver's idea of buying "tickets" for the football bowl broadcasts, Chris R. Valley of New Orleans suggests that fight listeners should contribute either cash or defense stamps to the navy relief fund. . . . Fastest selling tickets for tonight's scrap were the $30 ones.

Justified Complaint

Walter (Rip) Van Winkle, Miami University (Ohio) basketball coach, went to Cincinnati the other night to scout both teams in the Hanover-Cincinnati U. game. The regular referee failed to show up so Van Winkle was drafted for the job. He got the usual fee but he complained, "I was so darned busy I didn't get much scouting done."

Sportpouri

Abe Green, the N. B. A. president, has asked boxing commissions in the 37 states in his organization to stage benefit shows for the infantile paralysis fund. . . . Another suggestion is that they set aside a month when every club and every fighter on the cards will contribute one per cent of the take. That wouldn't cost anybody much and likely would bring in more dough. . . . Add hardships of war: The major league baseballers hear from the railroad folks that they won't all get lower berths on this year's jaunts.

Today's Guest Star

John N. Sabo, Detroit Free Press: "Consolation: Louis Norman Newsum, the Mr. Bo-Bo of Hartsville, S. C., will have one thing to console him when he sees his Tiger contract. . . . His 1942 income tax will not be as big as the one in '41'."

Service Dept.

Junie Andrea, who was a basketball star at Indiana U. before he started to play third base for the Louisville Colonels, entertained two sets of fans when he helped the Great Lakes naval training station court squad lick Western Kentucky Teachers at Jeffersonville, Ind., the other night. He rang up eleven points for the home folks. . . . For the opening of the new bowling alleys at the Corpus Christi (Tex.) naval air school, two special sets of pins were provided—one bearing pictures of Hitler, the other pictures of Mussolini.

Ouch!

Asked to do a guest column for a vacationing scribe, Joe Engel, baseball's best showman, suggested erecting a monument to all living sports writers, inscribed: "He did the best he would while he was awake."

CAPITAL UNSTIRRED
Washington, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Talk in Tokyo about the possibility of a Japanese invasion of the United States stirred not a ripple of apprehension in American military circles today.
Japan, it was noted, is now engaged in military gamble 2,000 miles from home in its attempt to seize the entire southwest Pacific before a coalition of powerful forces can reinforce their defenses. Invasion of the United States would have to follow success of this gamble, together with destruction of the United States fleet, capture of Hawaii and at least the neutralization of Alaska, military men said.
Lieut. Com. John L. DeWitt of the Fourth army, has been on the alert against any eventuality since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, but military quarters assumed this force was more concerned with the possibility of sneak air raids than any peril of a mass invasion attempt.
The Pacific Northwest, the United States continental area closest to Japan, is some 5,000 miles from Yokohama and the difficulties of supplying such distant invasions were described as almost unmanageable.
American, and presumably Japanese, strategists have long toyed with the idea of an invasion of the west coast. The late General Homer Lea wrote a book in which he maintained that it was practicable. But it was published some three decades ago when airplanes were just beginning to fly and the United States army was relatively a mere token force.
Lea pictured a Japanese landing on the coast of Washington, a drive through to Centralia, Wash., and the capture of Portland and Seattle by flanking forces. He asserted 170,000 Japanese troops, following this plan, could take San Francisco in five months, against the American defenders then available.

rights and personal belongings. "We should realize that democratic standards of living are not based on wealth," she stated, "and must be able to adjust ourselves to conditions as they are."

Miss Geraldson reminded the audience that one-fifth of the population are children of grade school age, and that they "are our future hope for the continuance of our democracy. Student government is one of the many methods of helping students understand the necessity of discipline, self-reliance, and co-operation." Children are naturally democratic, Miss Geraldson explained, and if problems are presented to them they are fair and broadminded.

"The law considers that every child at birth enters into contract to be a law-abiding citizen," Mr. Jones commented. "Parents, with the help of schools and the church, are held responsible. Parental neglect and incompetence causes the child to become a criminal or undesirable citizen. Many of our youth today are lacking true patriotism because their parents take democracy for granted, and it doesn't seem important enough to be taught in our schools."

Father Burke stated: "The church endeavors to keep before the people those basic principles taught by Christ upon which our government was founded. Every good citizen is a good Christian, because if he follows the laws of a good citizen, he is living the principles upon which the Christian faith is based. Liberty cannot survive cynicism; religion is the source of democracy."

A brief business meeting conducted by Mrs. Gordon Bennett, preceded the program. Miss Sheffield's room was attendance honors, and Miss Scholl's room was second.

Mrs. Frank Deutsch was in charge of the program, which also included songs by the Triple Trio of Dixon high school. The trio sang "When I Grow Too Old to Dream," "The Old Rocking Chair," and "Still as the Night," accompanied by Miss Haven.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. F. Johnston's hospitality committee. Mrs. George Beier, first grade room mother, and Mrs. Gordon Bennett presided at the lace-covered table.

ship of just one man—Der Fuehrer.
Hitler's hold on his people has been, and may well still be, one of the most remarkable phenomena of our time. Even those who have condemned many of his policies, such as his persecution of the churches and the Jews, still have held that he has done great things for the fatherland. I encountered that attitude throughout Germany myself. Some of his more fanatical followers regard him as a Messiah—literally so.

However, Germans as a whole have been following not ideals or political doctrines but their faith in the capabilities of an individual to achieve what he set out to do. Undoubtedly some of this has been just faith in Hitler's uncanny good luck, which has accompanied his unostentatious skill.

Thus we have a situation in which the people of the reich will have lost everything if they lose their faith in this one man. This loss of faith would mean the downfall of Hitler and consequently the collapse of the house that Adolf built. Goering and the rest of his key-workers are but shadows which must disappear when the sun goes down.

The German public probably is just beginning to learn the truth about the Nazi reverses in Russia and the very terrible loss of life. It is the German people, however, who are in the hands of the facts in hand to recognize the full significance of the Russian campaign, they will realize that the omnipotent Hitler at last has led them into a morass of disaster. They cannot help realizing that their fuhrer and his grandiose scheme are on the down grade.

Coupled with this are the distress and hunger and other trials which are sweeping a tormented Europe, and which inevitably will engulf Germany. A people which is hungry and crushed by war will fight on if it has a great spiritual cause for which to battle. But those who are hungry and desperate won't fight if they lack a great cause.

It would be a mistake to assume that Hitler has lost his grip, but it isn't going too far to say that he is in a precarious position.

hoarding purposes began last year. This activity was reflected in record sales. Distribution increased from an annual average of about 100 pounds in the 1933-40 period to almost 130 pounds per person in 1941.
Nutrition authorities, on the other hand, say an average of only about 65 pounds is ample for a good, palatable diet. Most Americans, they added, eat too much sugar for health's sake.
Sugar experts take the position that there is no justification for abnormal purchases of sugar. They point out that consumers are protected against price advances by a ceiling order, and that prospects are fairly bright that supplies will be sufficient to maintain a 100-pound-per-year rate of distribution.

Republicans Plan Judicial Meeting in Oregon April 9

April 9 is the date set for the district convention, with the Coliseum at Oregon as the meeting place, at which time Republican candidates will be selected for the position of Supreme court judge, County Chairman H. C. Warner of the Lee County Republican central committee announced today. Delegates from 12 northwest Illinois counties will assemble at this meeting to nominate the Republican candidate. Prior to April 9, county meetings will be held for the purpose of selecting delegates, but in Lee county the date for this gathering has not been definitely decided upon.

The list of counties and the number of delegates eligible to participate in the Oregon convention follows: Boone, 12; Carroll, 12; DeKalb, 25; Jo Daviess, 14; Kane, 85; Kendall, 8; Lee, 22; McHenry, 32; Ogle, 23; Stephenson, 27; Whiteside, 31; and Winnebago, 63, a total of 360 delegates, 180 votes being necessary to nominate.

It is reported today that four candidates have announced their intention of seeking the high honor as follows: Franklin J. Stransky, Savanna; William J. Fulton, Sycamore; David R. Joslyn, Woodstock, and Frank Maynard, Rockford.

During the past few days, the political outlook in Lee county is on the upturn and numerous petitions are being circulated widely. There are two candidates in the field for sheriff, County Treasurer Ward T. Miller, who cannot succeed himself in that office, and Leroy E. Bates, present chief deputy, being the contestants. Sheriff Gilbert P. Finch is circulating his petitions for the office of county treasurer. County Clerk Sterling D. Schrock is a candidate for reelection in that important office in the court house and County Judge Grover V. Gehant is also a candidate for re-election. The petitions of Congressman Leo E. Allen of Galena, who seeks re-election are also being circulated by Republican precinct committeemen in Lee county.

American Flying Force in Action
Rangoon, Burma, Jan. 9.—(AP)—A small squadron of the American volunteer group roared across the jungle wastelands of Thailand yesterday and bombed Meshod airdrome, near Bangkok, destroying at least seven grounded Japanese bombers and probably wrecking an eighth.

This was the latest reported stroke of an American flying force under the command of a wiry Louisianan, Col. Claire L. Chennault, who at 51 left a life of retirement to defend the Burma road even before Japan launched her great December offensive in the Pacific and Far East.

The assault appeared to have cost the American volunteer group one plane, for it was missing somewhere between the AVG's operating base and the bomb-torn airport of Meshod.

A combined communique of the British army and air command said: "AVG aircraft raided Meshod on Thursday. They destroyed seven enemy light bombers on the ground and probably eight. One AVG aircraft is missing as a result of this raid."

Murderer of Child in Fulton Is Sane, Alienists Declare

Two of Three Experts on Stand Thursday From State Hospital Here

Leo Jordan, confessed knifemurderer of Warren Snyder, five-year-old Fulton boy, is sane, in the opinion of three alienists, two of them from the Dixon state hospital, who testified at a hearing in Whiteside county circuit court at Morrison Thursday afternoon.

Jordan has pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with murder, and hearing of evidence in the case, which is necessary before sentence can be imposed, was completed Thursday. Final arguments of attorneys were begun this morning at 10 a. m. There will be no limit on the length of time the lawyers may speak, but Judge A. J. Scheinman expressed hope that the arguments will be completed today.

Judge Scheinman has not indicated whether he will impose sentence as soon as the arguments are completed.

Jordan, a former Iowa convict, was indicted on a charge of slashing the throat of the Snyder boy last November, and leaving his victim in a patch of weeds to bleed to death. He was arrested several hours after a searching party found the boy's body.

Described as "Unstable," Dr. Louis Bellison, assistant managing director of the Dixon State hospital, said he examined Jordan Nov. 29, and that although the defendant was not found to be insane, he did appear to be unstable.

Jordan, Dr. Bellison said, had failed to develop moral resistance and was an impulsive person, but "did know right from wrong." He testified the defendant's intelligence quotient was 87, and that 80 to 89 is considered to be the normal mark.

Miss Anna Johnson, senior psychiatrist at the Dixon State hospital, said Jordan is only slightly below average mentality. His mental age, she testified, is 13, while the average for all men who served in the first World war was only 13½.

Dr. Milton Goldberg of Chicago, assistant psychiatrist of the state department of criminology, told the court Jordan is not insane but might be classified as a dangerous personality, lacking emotional control.

Prior to the testimony of the alienists, which took up most of the afternoon, Mrs. Elida Mortenson of Moline, half sister of Jordan's mother, took the stand as a defense witness. She said she had cared for Jordan from the time he was three years old until he reached the age of five, and that he had lived at her home for several months in 1938. Mrs. Mortenson testified she believed Jordan never had been sound of mind.

All other witnesses who appeared today were called by the state. Presentation of the state's case started at 9 a. m. and was completed at 1:55 p. m., while the defense case required from 1:55 to 4:55 p. m.

Believe Jordan Is Sane

State witnesses include Sheriff Roy Crook, Deputy Sheriff Charles Westendorf, Chief of Police Henry Coffman of Fulton, Dr. B. J. Snyder, Fulton mayor and uncle of the murder victim, and William Considine, who saw Jordan talking to the Snyder boy a short time before the crime occurred. All testified that in the opinion Jordan was sane.

Dr. John Stewart, pathologist at Jane Lamb hospital, Clinton, Ia., who examined the boy's body; Edward Clancy, Clinton policeman who found half of a broken pencil at the murder scene and thus aided greatly in solution of the case; Mrs. John Barsema of Fulton, who took Jordan to work at the Rich Manufacturing company in Clinton on the day of the crime; and three persons employed at the Rich plant also were called as witnesses by the state. Jordan did not testify.

Chicago City Club Continues Fight to Secure More Water

Chicago, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Although the war department has turned down a plea that lake diversion be increased so that power output at Lockport may be raised, the City Club of Chicago plans to continue the fight.

Herman L. Ellsworth, president of the City Club, said he had received letters yesterday from three war department officials turning down a request sent to President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Simson that the diversion from Lake Michigan into the Chicago river be increased from the present 1,500 cubic feet a second to 10,000.

A letter from Brig. Gen. Charles Hines, director of the planning branch of the war department, said that because the United States Supreme court had decreed the present rate the department did not believe it advisable to recommend additional diversion.

"The war department appreciates the fact that the power which could be generated at the Lockport station would be useful, but feels that the retention of the water in the Great Lakes system gives greater national benefits in maintaining adequate depths in the lower lakes, thereby facilitating the transportation of vitally needed iron ore to Lake Erie ports," the letter said.

Ellsworth said "the Civilian Defense Committee of the City Club will compile all available data on the need for increased diversion and the fact that it will not lower lake levels. We will not take these letters as a final 'No'."

For the time being, the islands are well fixed for food.

This was disclosed by Lieut. General Delos C. Emmons, new commander of the army's Hawaiian department, in an interview yesterday which gave an encouraging picture of the usually placid islands which were ripped by Japan's sneak opening attack of the Pacific war on Dec. 7.

A new enemy assault "may happen at any time," he pointed out, "but we will not be surprised again—and we will hold the islands."

Ready for Attack

"We are prepared to meet an attack at any time," he said, "and we are not waiting until the Singapore situation is disposed of one way or another. Emphatically we are stronger than Dec. 7."

"The islands are the key to this side of the Pacific and losing them would be a serious matter. This is where we will start our offensive."

General Emmons said the Japanese "undoubtedly x x x want to attempt another surprise and might make an assault in force. We are ready to meet them and a lot of our men and officers would welcome it. We are pretty sore and ready to go to town."

He said the Japanese possibly might try to by-pass Hawaii to get to Panama and Alaska, but did not enlarge upon this comment.

Boys and Girls of Lee County Aid in Red Cross Drive

Boys and girls of Lee county, enrolled through their schools in the American Junior Red Cross, are planning to take an active part in raising contributions for the special $50,000,000 emergency war fund of the American Red Cross, Robert Sterling, chairman of the Junior Red Cross here, said today.

Junior membership in the American Red Cross is now estimated to total approximately 13,000,000 school children Sterling said, over 1,000,000 more than were enrolled in 1918. The American Junior Red Cross was founded during the first World War in response to the need at that time for the wise and careful organization of children's activities. At that time Junior Red Cross members collected and contributed over $3,500,000, most of it in pennies, nickels and dimes which they had earned themselves. They also made an enormous contribution of 15,722,000 articles, garments, hospital comforts and recreational supplies during the World War and the first year of reconstruction immediately following, Sterling said.

It is expected that the contribution of Junior Red Cross members to the $50,000,000 American Red Cross emergency war fund for which President Roosevelt has appealed will equal that of twenty-five years ago, Sterling added. Funds contributed by the boys and girls of the Junior Red Cross will be recorded separately, Sterling said; 15 per cent will be retained in the local chapter, and probably will be used to provide funds for the production program of hospital comforts and other articles for our gallant defenders to be made by Junior members, while 85 per cent will be sent to national headquarters as a sub-fund of the general war fund.

First call on this national contribution made by Junior Red Cross members will be for projects definitely for assistance to children in emergency situations in the United States and the territorial and insular possessions and for the support of "war nurseries" and similar institutions in protected areas, similar to those in Great Britain which are now supported from the National Children's Fund of the Junior Red Cross. Part will also be used to finance special local Junior Red Cross activities sponsored or approved by national headquarters, and the remainder will be used with the general war fund which is being collected to provide for all kinds of Red Cross services to the American people at home and to the men in the armed forces, to provide relief for bombed and evacuated civilians, and to provide training for all kinds of Red Cross work for civilian defense.

The RED CROSS WAR FUND—the embodiment of national unity—is America's answer to its detractors. "All arms joined in a common cause" was never more needed, never more true. GIVE all you can, and quickly.

Total state revenues from all sources amounted to $7,741,285,000 during 1939.

Drive to Gather Waste Material Starts in State

A state-wide drive to collect waste materials in homes, shops, factories, and offices and on farms for use in war industries was begun yesterday by Nathaniel Leverone, state salvage director of the Office of Production Management industrial conservation bureau. The Illinois Manufacturers association added its support by circulating among factories a program for gathering scrap.

Local salvage committees are being organized by subcommittees of the city and state defense councils, Leverone said.

Appeal to Householders

"Every householder, business, and factory will be urged to gather scrap and either donate it to charity groups or sell it to junk men," Leverone said. "This salvaged material will be used to release new materials for war industry or utilized where raw materials run short."

"We will set up volunteer salvage committees in every community in the state to speed the campaign. The need for waste paper, scrap metals, and old rubber has become increasingly acute since the outbreak of war in the Pacific."

Leverone was appointed several days ago to direct the salvage drive in the state by Gov. Green.

He is chairman of the board of Automatic Canteen Company of America, chairman of the ways and means committee of the Association of Commerce, secretary of the Chicago Crime commission, and a member of the executive committee of the Chicago Commission for National Defense.

In a bulletin to members of the Illinois Manufacturers association, James L. Donnelly, executive vice president, urged factory managers to adopt a sound salvage policy for collection of wastepaper, metals, obsolete machinery, and other materials.

"The wastes of one industry are the raw materials of others," he observed. "Practically all salvage can be reworked or refined into new and usually better raw materials."

America gave $22,000,000 for foreign war relief in 1940. Now we are giving $50,000,000 to our own RED CROSS AMERICAN WAR FUND. Give your share—for army and navy welfare and civilian disaster relief and prevention.

Band Leaders from Score of States at Illinois U. Clinic

Leaf River Thursday for John Marks father of Mrs. Lydia Rowe and Mrs. Dally Ave. He is also survived by another daughter Mrs. Jessie Bain of Byron and three sons, Lyle of Forrester and Carl and Harold of Leaf River. 12 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren. Attending the funeral from Mount Morris were Fred Ave and daughter, Mrs. Herman Hageman.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kretzinger are parents of a son born Tuesday afternoon at the home of the latter's brother and wife, the Charles Nichols.

Those who braved the cold weather to attend the January meeting of Woman's club held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Allen forgot all about the outer elements after Mrs. Harold Ross had started on her discussion of books. Not only did she review two well-known current books, but generously shared her views on various other best-sellers of the year.

"Storm" by George Stewart and "Language in Action," by S. I. Hayakawa were the two she chose to review, and both were pleasantly summarized.

Her list of recommendations was so diversified that any book lover is sure to find some appealing volumes on it. Among the novels were Hemingway's, "For Whom the Bell Tolls;" Marquand's "H. M. Pulham, Esquire;" Cronin's "The Keys of the Kingdom;" Dark's "The Timeless Land;" Hall's "Botany Bay;" Dean's "The Sun is My Undoing;" Koestler's "Darkness at Noon;" Norris' "The Venables;" Tarkington's "The Heritage of Hatcher Ide;" and West's "Black Lamb and Gray Falcon."

Other suggestions included the biography "Victoria's Heir" by Dangerfield, "My Name is Aran," by Saroyan; "Out of the Night," by Valtin; "Blood, Sweat, and Tears," by Churchill; "You Can't Do Business with Hitler" by Miller; "Revelry in Washington" by Leach; "Shake Hands with the Dragon," by Glick "The Treasury of Gilbert and Sullivan" for the musically inclined; "Big Family," by Partridge; Burke-White and Caldwell's pictorial. So this is America! Cartoons by Peter Arno, and Hardy "Mathematician's Apology."

During the business session it was decided that Mrs. Carroll Boston, president, should appoint a member from the club to work with her in arranging a system for the membership to register for defense in accordance with the instructions received from

Urbana-Champaign, Ill., Jan. 9.—More than two hundred band leaders from nearly a score of states are at the University of Illinois today in a two-day "clinic," the thirteenth of such annual gatherings here. This meeting is one of the answers to the public's question, "When the football season ends, what happens to the college bands?"

At the University of Illinois the answer is "the band gets down to its regular work," of which this clinic is a more important part than the spectacular football formations. The gridiron spectacles are a "sideline" for the band that is as much a part of the University's educational activities as is the mathematics department.

The Illinois band became a hemisphere standard when a New York music critic, writing of a Latin-American musical organization, said it was "second only to that of Illinois." A quarter-century ago John Philip Sousa declared the Illinois group to be "the world's greatest college band," and outstanding musicians have repeated that statement many times since.

Prof. A. Austin Harding, director of the Illinois band, is dean of American college bandmasters and considered "father of the school band movement." Through his band, its work, its alumni, and meetings such as the "clinic" now in session, his influence has been nationwide. He has revolutionized the nation's conception of concert bands and concert band music.

During the present clinic the bandmen are talking over their problems, getting new ideas, and hearing music played for them by the University of Illinois bands. These include numbers required in the annual band contests.

Professor Harding, as chairman of the band committee of the Music Educator's National conference, is the key man in the selection of the contest numbers. Before being passed and approved, the music is tried out by the Illinois band.

During and immediately before the annual clinic, some 150 manuscripts of new numbers are received at Harding's office, and many of these are played at the sessions. An average of 10 new numbers a week are received during the rest of the year, sent by composers and publishers for Harding's criticism and for tryout before publication.

In recognition of his work, Professor Harding has been made honorary president of the Illinois School Band association and a member of the advisory committee of the National School Band association. He is a past president of the American Bandmaster's association, the only director of a non-professional band ever to head that group. Last fall Governor Dwight H. Green recognized Harding's services by naming him a colonel on the governor's personal staff.

Morrison Youth Will Not Appear Here for a Time

Robert Rohner, 20, of Morrison, who was indicted by the Lee county grand jury earlier this week on the charge of the theft of an automobile, belonging to Joseph Crawford of this city, will not appear in court for a number of years at least. Rohner was sentenced to serve from one to 10 years in a state penitentiary on a charge of burglary and larceny by Judge A. J. Scheinman in the Whiteside county Circuit court at Morrison Tuesday. State's Attorney Morey Pires has indicated that the Lee county indictment will be held in abeyance and the prison officials notified of Rohner's being wanted in Lee county at the expiration of his sentence.

The Whiteside county judge revoked a probation which had been granted to Rohner following his indictment for burglary of a Morrison bowling alley, which was re-

The Whiteside county grand jury returned an indictment against Rohner at Morrison Monday for the larceny of an automobile owned by Mrs. Alene Haines of Morrison.

The Morrison car was abandoned along the Lincoln Highway, six miles west of Dixon after it had left the highway, and crashed into a ditch. Rohner then secured a ride to Dixon and took the Crawford station car which was parked on Galena avenue, just south of First street, which he drove to Aurora and abandoned.
